Heavy equipment registration with the National Equipment Register (NER) — an added loss control measure for RLI policyholders

RLI Marine has entered into a partnership with NER that helps our insureds reduce the costs of equipment theft. This partnership offers:

- Equipment information management
- Theft deterrence
- Increased recovery rates of stolen equipment
- Reduced registration fees

Equipment information management — NER’s national databases contain more than 90,000 theft reports and 15 million ownership records, allowing a police officer anywhere in the country to identify the true owner of equipment 24 hours a day — even before a theft has been discovered and reported.

Theft deterrence — Thieves will think twice about stealing equipment displaying the NER warning decal. They can remove the decal, but can’t remove the record from the NER database. If thieves try to alter or remove equipment identification numbers, other lesser-known identifiers on the equipment can still be used to ascertain the equipment’s true owners.

Quick recovery — In the event of theft, our claim department will notify NER immediately. NER will check the accuracy of theft reports, send theft alerts to thousands of law enforcement investigators and equipment industry contacts, and check used equipment sales for the stolen equipment. If the NER-registered equipment is not recovered within 30 days of reporting the theft to law enforcement authorities, the insured will have their deductible waived up to $10,000.

Cost-effective protection — Through RLI’s partnership with the NER, insureds receive the “Partner Discount” shown below.

About NER

NER was established to develop a national theft prevention program and an equipment identification training program for law enforcement, encouraging equipment theft investigations and improving recovery rates. NER offers its nationwide HELPtch databases of equipment ownership and thefts, plus trained analysts who provide equipment identification support for police — both online and through a 24-hour hot line. NER’s services are provided free of charge to thousands of state law enforcement agencies; hundreds of insurers also use its services. Millions of machines are registered by thousands of fleets, rental stores and contractors. NER’s efforts have resulted in the recovery of more than $20 million in stolen equipment since 2001.
